Letterpress printing is a printing technique with a history of over 500 years. To print the gridline on the pages, a skilled craftsman sets types one by one manually and uses antique man-powered printer manufactured in 1870s (early in Meiji era) in Japan. The watermarked paper with a raid pattern is called "OK Fools", known for its high quality and being fountain pen-friendly, which is smooth to write on and has great ink absorbability. We selected the design of vintage marble paper from 1880s for its cover design and collaborated with Bunrindo, a tiny but historic printing office in Fukuoka City.

OK フールズ紙

本文用紙には、インクの吸水性に優れ、裏写りせず、滑らかな書き心地を楽しむことができる高級筆記専用紙の「OK フールズ」を使用しています。万年筆をはじめボールペン・鉛筆・筆ペンなどの筆記具と相性がよく、質感・風合い・書き味に優れた紙です。紙を透かした時にみえる、抄きこまれたレイド模様とウォーターマークが特徴です。

活版印刷

鉛合金から鑄造される活字を組版してハンコの原理で刷る 500 年以上の歴史をもつ印刷技法。罫線と呼ばれる薄い板の間に「込めもの」とよばれる空白部分を作り、グリッド罫となるよう一文字一文字を手で拾い組みあわせて製作した組版を、明治時代初期に日本で造られた、電気を使わず人の動力だけで動かす貴重な印刷機で印刷しています。微妙な調節を何度も重ね、ローラーにインクをのせプレスする。職人の手による深い味わいや温もり、凹凸の手触りや刷りムラ・インキのにじみなど、一枚一枚わずかに異なる風合いも活版印刷ならではの味わいです。表紙には 1880 年代のマーブルペーパーのデザインを採用し、福岡にある小さいながらも歴史のある印刷所「文林堂」と共同製作しました。

Nao Washi

Nao Tesuki Washi, the last atelier in the district where paper has been made since more than 300 years ago, performs every step of production process by themselves from growing material trees. Hizen Nao Washi manufactured in the area was designated as Important Intangible Cultural Property of Saga Prefecture.

Greeting card set of hand-crafted paper made in a small mountain village Nao, Saga Prefecture.

On the folded card where even the fountain pen ink hardly bleeds, is a watermarked frame which is a typical decoration for washi products. The envelope is made of paper upcycled with scraps of memopads from attaché collection. This paper-making method called Kankonshi, 'revived paper' in Japanese, is realized by the fact that the fiber of paper mulberry, the main material of washi, is long enough to be intertwined and perfect to hold the scraps. Feel the touch of Japanese traditional craftsmanship.

*Due to the handmade nature of the product, small variations in size and color may occur.
*The package contains a small piece of washi paper that you could use for test-writing of your own pens.

How to make Nao Tesuki Washi

1. Growing material trees called paper mulberry.

2. Boil trees in a caldron to bark, soften.

3. Soak the barked trees in water to soften.

4. Expose the trees to the sunlight and ground water, then stir fibers.

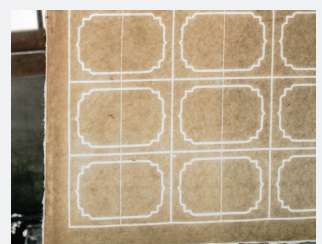

5. Mucilage made from aibika.

6. Mixing the mucilage and tree fibers.

7. Put paper on dryers.

8. Ready for cutting when dried.

With the greatest care, one craftsman forms a simple but heart-warming tool from recycled glass gob, which will be cherished timelessly. Faintly cream-colored Clear, refreshing pale Blue and one-of-a-kind Georgia Green. They are respectively of bottles of milk, soda and coke without a single drop of colorant added in the material afterwards. Creation is how we express our wish to realize eco-friendly lifestyle that doesn't spoil the limited resources.
